Eight voting members and one non-voting member comprise the Board of Control. Arlo Flege is a voting member and represents the Iowa Association of School Boards. He is appointed by that group. Dwight Carlson is a representative of the State Department of Education, a non-voting member. The remaining seven members are elected by IHSAA member schools. All five IHSAA Representative Council districts in the state are represented on the Board. The Board of Control employs the IHSAA staff and designates that staff's duties, has general supervision over all athletic contests of Association schools, and interprets Association rules. A 25-member Representative Council formulates the aims and policies of the Association for the ensuing year and has the power to initiate amendments and new rules for the Executive Director to submit to the electorate. The Council members are also elected by IHSAA member schools and are chosen by districts and according to school classification. Each of the five districts have the five council members and four of the five represent class A schools with one representing class AA schools in that district.
